

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

The Parents-Teacher Meeting (PTM) serves as an important platform for communication between the college and parents. The primary objective of the meeting is to discuss the academic progress, behavior, strengths, and areas of improvement of each student. Through this interaction, teachers and parents work together to support the student's overall development. We have arranged a parent teacher meeting for our third year and second year students in our department on 17.09.2025.

Key points discussed included:

- Academic performance in various subjects
- Regularity, punctuality, and classroom engagement
- Completion of assignments and homework
- Social skills, behavior, and communication
- Suggestions for improvement and strategies for better learning at home

During the meeting, teachers provide detailed feedback on classroom performance, participation, attendance, and learning habits. Parents are encouraged to share their observations from home so that both parties can collaboratively address any challenges the student may be facing.

The meeting also highlights the student's achievements, special talents, and positive qualities.

The PTM helps build a strong partnership between home and college, ensuring that every student receives the guidance, motivation, and support needed for academic excellence and personal growth. It creates an open environment where concerns can be resolved, goals can be set, and strategies can be planned for improving the learning experience.

Parents actively participated and interacted with teachers, showing willingness to collaborate for the student's growth. The meeting concluded on a positive note, with both parents and teachers agreeing to work together to ensure continuous progress and well-being of the students.
